This decade will see the hundredth anniversary of J.R.R. Tolkien’s earliest writings on Middle-Earth (The Book of Lost Tales, begun in 1917) alongside the completion of Peter Jackson’s career-defining twenty-year project to adapt The Lord of the Rings for film (1995-2015). This course asks the question: Who is J.R.R. Tolkien, looking backward from the perspective of the twenty-first century? Why have his works, and the genre of heroic fantasy which he remade so completely in his image, remained so intensely popular, even as the world has transformed around them? Our study will primarily trace the history, development, and reception of Tolkien’s incredible magnum opus, The Lord of the Rings (written 1937-1949, published 1954-1956)—but we will also take up Tolkien’s contested place in the literary canon of the twentieth century, the uses and abuses of Tolkien in Jackson’s blockbuster films, and the ongoing critical interests and investments of Tolkien fandom today. As Tolkien scholars we will also have the privilege of drawing upon the remarkable J.R.R. Tolkien Collection at the Raynor Library here at Marquette, which contains the original manuscripts for The Hobbit, The Lord of the Rings, and Farmer Giles of Ham.

LEARNING GOALS

At the completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Demonstrate understanding of the cultural, historical, political, and philosophical contexts in which Tolkien wrote;
- Identify and understand various formal characteristics both of the Tolkien legendarium and of contemporary fantasy literature more generally;
- Apply techniques of critical analysis as appropriate to diverse literary forms, genres, and media;
- Participate and intervene in contemporary debates over Tolkien’s works and his literary/cultural legacy;
- Use literary and cultural study to develop skills for careful reading and clear writing;
- Read and discuss a variety of literary and nonliterary texts on the levels of both form and content.
REQUIRED TEXTS (available at the BookMarq on 16th Street)
The Hobbit (1937)
The Lord of the Rings (1954-1956)
The Silmarillion (1977)
Note: Any published edition of these texts will do.

Additional readings and course materials will occasionally be made available via D2L.

A detailed description of the final paper will be distributed in class well in advance of the due dates.

Graduate students will have slightly different expectations; we will discuss this one-on-one.

GRADING
Grades will follow the following rubric:
* To earn a C, you must clearly restate the meaning or project of a text in your own terms. A C essay may volunteer an original argument, but will likely lack evidence or analysis of its sources. C essays are clearly written, though they might display some grammatical weakness.

* To earn a B, you must begin to raise important questions about the text under consideration and to use those questions to drive your own interpretive agenda. A B essay typically advances an original argument and provides solid analysis of the text(s) under consideration. B essays are clear, concise, and free of grammatical errors.

* To earn an A, you must construct an essay that does more than simply comment on the work of others; you must forward, counter, or transform what they have to say. An A essay advances an original argument that builds toward a climax and makes a persuasive case for its own significance. A essays are clearly written, and often eloquent.

* A D means that you have not written in clear prose or that you seem to have deeply misunderstood the text. An F means that you did not fully or seriously engage the assignment.

* AB, BC, and CD grades fall squarely in the gaps between the above categories.
QUIZZES
I do not like to give reading quizzes; I think they infantilize the college-level scholar. However, this is by necessity a very reading-intensive class; if it seems to me that people are not keeping up with the reading, pop quizzes may become necessary despite my philosophical objections. You have been warned.

FORMAT OF WRITTEN WORK
Your final paper should be typed in twelve-point font, double-spaced with one-inch margins, saved in a format Microsoft Word can open. Your filename should contain your name in it, for example, yourlastname-finalpaper.docx.

I expect you to edit and proofread all written work, even forum comments. Drafts that contain excessive typos or grammar mistakes may be returned to the author for correction before I offer comments.

Please give your final paper an original title, and include your name, assignment, and due date in a header on the first page.

All sources relied upon for the writing of your paper, including the primary text, must be appropriately cited.

PAPER SUBMISSION
The final paper should be submitted via D2L’s Dropbox by class time on the due date, Friday, December 18. Because this is a final exam, late final papers cannot be accepted.

Your other written work (which will primarily take the form of blog comments) will be posted on the D2L forums. These papers will have flexible due dates driven by your own interests and responses. It is thus your responsibility to make sure you are properly keeping up with this portion of the course in a timely fashion.

Except in very unusual circumstances, work will not be accepted by email.

TECHNOLOGY IS TERRIBLE: PLAN AHEAD!
The Internet goes down. Files become corrupted. Computers crash. These are predictable facts of twenty-first century life, not emergencies. For this course, for all your courses, for the rest of your career and your life in this world you need to develop work habits and strategies that take into account the basic, inescapable unreliability of computers. Start your assignments well in advance of the due date; save them often; save backup copies of essential documents, including copies off-site using a service like Carbonite, Dropbox, or Google Drive.

ATTENDANCE AND CLASS PARTICIPATION
Class discussion is an essential component of this seminar; class discussion, not lecture, will be the primary means by which we will investigate these texts together. It is crucial that you come to class every day having read the required material and prepared to discuss it.

Consequently, attendance in this class is mandatory. You should plan on attending every class. Please talk to me (in advance if possible) if you ever find you will need to miss a class meeting.

The course adheres to Marquette University’s attendance policy, which can be found on the Internet at http://bulletin.marquette.edu/undergrad/academicregulations/#attendance.

You are allowed three unexcused absences over the course of the fall semester. After that, your class participation will drop by half a letter grade for each additional unexcused absence. Upon the seventh unexcused absence, you may receive a WA (Withdrawn—Excessive Absences) for the semester.

Merely being present in class is insufficient to earn an “A” for class participation. Each student is expected to participate in and contribute to our discussions. Just being in the room is not enough.

DISCUSSION INAUGURATOR

Beginning with Week 3, each member of the class will have one day in which they are expected to inaugurate our discussion based on the readings for that day. The requirements for this are necessarily very loose, as each day of the course will have a very different type of text to be discussed; in general, however, the discussion inaugurator will be asked to (1) succinctly describe the project of this part of the text; (2) articulate a brief critical response to the material; and (3) direct our collective attention to one or two problems in, questions about, or particularly important moments in the text. I expect this introductory role to take approximately five minutes.

A signup sheet for this role will be distributed in class next week.

D2L DISCUSSION FORUMS

This course will make extensive use of the forums on D2L, where you can express your response to the material before class begins and where we can continue our discussions after class is over.

The forums are an excellent place for people who may feel inhibited by in-class discussion to share their opinions with the class. I will be reading it before every meeting of the course and I ask you do the same. You may choose either to begin a discussion thread on a new topic or to respond to a post composed by one of your classmates.

Before class on Friday, every student is required to upload a picture of their face to their D2L profile.

After that, students must write eight short comments (approximately 1-2 pages that move beyond just plot summary) responding to any of the texts across the remainder of the course. Post your comment in the open thread for that day of class. These comments should ideally be completed either by 10 PM before one of the class discussions devoted to that text or by 10 PM the night before the following class.
Roughly half of the posts should be completed before Fall Break.

I encourage you to think of your blog comments as possible “seeds” for the final paper;
feel free to begin to develop your thoughts there.

You are also highly encouraged to kill two birds with one stone by posting a forum comment on the day you are scheduled to be the discussion inaugurator.

The forums will also be used as a place for us to workshop your final paper prospectuses, as well as to post a paragraph-long abstract for your final paper once it is completed.
These comments do not count as part of the eight.

Additional posts and comments, and comments that substantively engage other students’ arguments, will be looked upon very favorably when I calculate your final grade.

EMAIL
Students in this class are required to check their official Marquette email account—whatever account D2L sends its emails to—at least once a day, in case there are any last-minute announcements or disruptions.

I endeavor to respond to all emails within 24 hours, usually much less—but please do not send me urgent emails regarding your assignments on the night before they are due and expect an immediate reply.

LAPTOP POLICY
In-class use of laptops, Kindles, iPads, etc. is permitted for access to electronic versions of our texts and for notetaking. However, students must refrain from non-class-related computer use, including email, instant messaging, Facebook, Twitter, and the like. Please do not abuse this privilege or distract your fellow students. I reserve to right to ban individual technological devices if this becomes a problem. Except in unusual cases of personal emergency, cleared with me at the start of class, no use of cell phones will be permitted during class time; please turn off your ringers and put them out of sight.

CONFERENCES
In lieu of our scheduled classes on October 26 and November 13, all students are required to meet with me in a short one-on-one conference at my office at least once during the semester to discuss the course and your work within it. Please know I am very happy to meet with you individually to discuss work-in-progress in excess of this requirement, as many times as you like. Simply come to my weekly office hours, or see or email me to set up an appointment.

FLEXIBILITY
If it will benefit the class, changes may be made to the above.
WRITING CENTER
Students are strongly encouraged to make use of the Writing Center, located in Raynor Library Room 240, at any stage of the writing process. Please visit the Writing Center website at http://www.marquette.edu/english/writingcenter/ to find out how to schedule an appointment and to access the studio’s online resources.

ACCOMODATIONS
Students with disabilities who believe they will require accommodations in this course should contact me early in the semester so your learning needs can be appropriately met. Per university policy, you are required to provide documentation of your disability to the Office of Disability Services.

If you are unsure of what you need to do to qualify for services, you can begin by visiting the Office of Disability Services in Marquette Hall, Lower Level, Room 05, or by visiting their website at http://www.marquette.edu/disability-services.index.shtml.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY
Students are expected to abide by the academic honesty policy outlined in your undergraduate bulletin. I urge you all to examine this material and consult me with any questions you may have about plagiarism or academic integrity before it becomes an issue.

Ignorance of what constitutes plagiarism is not an acceptable excuse for plagiarism. Academic dishonesty of any kind will not be tolerated and will result in a failing grade for the course. No exceptions or special dispensations will be made.

Full details of Marquette’s academic integrity policy are available on the Internet at http://bulletin.marquette.edu/undergrad/academicregulations/#academichonestypolicy.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM
We all enter this classroom with preexisting political, ethical, philosophical, and intellectual commitments. You are all required to engage the material—but you are absolutely not required to agree either with any of the writers we will discuss, or with me, in whole or in part.

RESPECT
This classroom is a community. It is crucial that we treat each other with the appropriate level of courtesy and respect. No one should be made to feel unwelcome here.

Failure to treat other students with the respect they deserve will severely negatively impact your class participation grade.
PRELIMINARY SCHEDULE

Any changes to this schedule will be announced in class as they become necessary.

Students should come to class prepared to discuss the listed texts or chapters.
